PRESIDENT-ELECT WINS POST BY BIG MAJORITY OF VOTES

Revised Constitution Meets With Almost Negligible Opposition

In an election which lacked the fervor of past political campaigns, Jack Metz, popular junior classman, walked off with an easy victory over his other two rivals for the student body presidency. Although all three candidates advocated somewhat similar platforms, and seemed equal as to ability to competently carry on with the high executive duties, a position at present held by John Tolan Jr., Metz by virtue of the fact that he has engaged in more extra-curricular activities during the past three years, and thus has been more intimately associated with the students in general, had no difficulty in polling a large majority of the votes.

Jack G. Metz

Oaklander Vice-President

Henry McElroy of Oakland, long connected with the executive council, was chosen as vice president along with Frank Latuda, chosen unanimously for the position of treasurer.

George Canrinus, varsity football end and prominent in school activities had little difficulty in winning the position of secretary. Canrinus, an independent politician, was the only candidate running for a student body office who was not on Metz' ticket.

Revision Adopted

The constitution of Saint Mary's College, recently revised by Carroll Coughlan, Arthur D'Arco and David Hinch, along with John Tolan Jr., chairman, was accepted by a large majority of votes by the students.

Minor Officers Elected

In addition, two new minor offices were voted upon. Matthew Labrucherie for the position of intramural sports manager and John Mallarino as head yell leader, were selected in those capacities.

Brother Leo Gives Recital Wednesday

Brother Leo will appear in the first of two literary recitals for the benefit of the Christian Brother's Novitiate at Napa on next Wednesday evening, at the War Memorial Opera House, in San Francisco.

In his study room at Saint Mary's, Brother Leo has accumulated a mass of notes garnered over a period of years, which serve as a source of his lecture ventures. Keen to sense a point of vantage with an audience, he is ever alert to glean a comment or article of current public interest from the most varied sources. From a firm and well built foundation of academic training he has advanced in constant procession to the height of eminence he now holds.

Among the poems to be rendered in the San Francisco recital are: George Sterling's "The Master Mariner," Oliver Wendell Holmes "The Last Leaf," Joyce Kilmer's "Cates and Bars," Rudyard Kipling's "Mandalay," Joseph I. C. Clarke "The Fighting Race," Matthew Arnold's "Rugby Chapel," Gelett Burgess's "The Hyde Street Grip," Dialect poems of Thomas A. Daly, and an unpublished poem by the late Countess Markievicz.

Tickets for the April 26 performance are on sale at Sherman, Clay and Co., San Francisco. Student's tickets may be procured on the campus until Tuesday, April 25.

Eight Local Orators Sign For Cottle Talks

Three seniors, and five freshmen have signed up for the annual Cottle oratorical contest, which will be held about the first of Mary, Carroll Coughlan, Jack Tolan, Leo Walcom, Dan O'Connor, Aubrey Johnson, Arthur Mott, Jack Boyer, and Robert Carlson are the students who have completed their speeches, and are ready for the first tryouts.

Brother Agnon wishes to start training the contestants next week, in order that the contest will not interfere with the final examinations.

Topics of political, social, religious and economic interest have been prepared by the students.

LITERATI CONDUCT TRADITIONAL FEAST

Coming Year's Leader Is Chosen at Annual Event

Wednesday evening the members of the Alpha Pi Gamma Upsilon Society traveled up to Martinez to hold their annual banquet.

After an excellent Italian dinner the members took up the only serious business which was allowed to intrude into the evening's festivities—the election of officers for next term.

Gordon Estes

To Gordon Estes went the honor of being chosen president ofthe society, succeeding Carroll Coughlan. Estes has contributed many essays and short stories of note to the columns of The Collegian. He is a transfer from San Mateo Junior College and calls Richmond home.

Other Officers

Henry Floyd was elected vice-president. The position of vice-president is not one of mere honor this year, for Floyd will serve as president of the society for the latter half of next term, as Estes will graduate in December.

The other officers elected were: Secretary, Jack Kiernan; treasurer, Havelock Hunter; marshall, Noel Sherry; director, Thomas Twomey. All the officers were chosen unanimously.

Dictator Congratulated

Because of the unprecedented success which debating has had this year under his guidance, Twomey was given a special vote of thanks by the society. Debating will continue to be under his direction next year.

After a series of short talks by the incoming administration various gifted after dinner speakers entertained with humorous antecdotes. Arthur D'Arco proved the sensation of the evening with his skillful and highly dramatic recitations.

Christian Doctrine Examination Given

Yesterday, between 1 and 3 p.m. the annual contest for the Christian Doctrine Medal was held in room D 113. The contest for the gold medal was founded in memory of the late Most Reverend Patrick W. Riordan, D.D., second Archbishop of San Francisco, and is held under the auspices of Archbishop Hanna.

Last year's award was won by Arthur D'Arco, and the presentation was made at the commencement exercises. This year's winner has not yet been announced. Those who were eligible to take the examination were Fischer, Franke, Kennedy, Matthias, Metz, Meyer, Mibach, O'Reilly, Raftery, W. Guheen, Johnston, Purcell, and Twomey.

Varsity Debaters Will Hold Final Appearance with Pacific

War debts! This current, though much-debated subject, will be given its final review next Tuesday evening when the College of the Pacific forensic team meets the local society in de la Salle Hall.

The contest will also be the final appearance of the varsity debaters on the campus this year.

A decision will be given at the conclusion of the encounter.

Henry Floyd, John Kiernan and David Taylor are the Saint Mary's representatives. They will give the affirmative arguments of the case for cancellation of the war debts.

Marin county will have an opportunity to see the local debate group of John Somers, John Tolan and Noel Sherry in action next Thursday. This is the final college debate for Somers and Tolan who are members of the senior class.

Social Plan Is Topic

On that evening they will travel to San Rafael to discuss the necessity of a fixed plan of living for society with the Marin Forum. Saint Mary's will defend the affirmative of the proposition, "Resolved: That society requires a fixed plan."

Women Defeated

Parliament, a women's forensic association at the University of California, were defeated in audience vote by the Tolan-Sherry combination last Tuesday evening at Stephen's Union.

The victors defended the stand against debt cancellation. Comical situations and statements enlivened the discussion.

When the Parliament team of Anita Jockers and Dorothy Goldeen failed to prove that Europe was unable to pay the yearly assessments, the audience granted the decision to the Saint Mary's representatives.

Editor Says Gael Will Come Out About May 1

On or about May 1st the 1933 Modern Gael will appear on the campus according to Jack Metz, editor of the yearbook.

At the present time the book is in the hands of the printers and a good part of it has been run off already. The final sections of the Gael will be printed next Thursday, according to word from the shop.

Few copies remain to be sold, announces Ellis Godfrey, circulation manager. The number printed is much smaller than in previous years and almost the entire allotment of books has been sold.

Santa Clara Frosh Refuse Debate Topic

Because they could not arrange a discussion on the current actions of Hitler in Germany, the Stephen M. White freshman debating society of Santa Clara cancelled their meeting with the local frosh group.

The contest was scheduled for last Wednesday evening. It had been planned as the second engagement of a dual encounter, the Saint Mary's team having met and defeated the lower-bay representatives in January.

On May 2 freshman forensic activities comes to a close for the current year when they clash with the yearling squad from Stanford University.

Technocracy Debate

Advocates and denouncers of the plans offered by Technocracy to cure the world's economic ills will have an opportunity to hear this subject analyzed on that evening.

"Resolved: That technocracy presents a satisfactory solution to our economic problems" is the topic for discussion.

Both groups of debaters will be represented by three-man teams.

Junior Chief Is Slated To Run For Re-election

Elections of the class officers for the coming year have been set for next week by the presidents of all three returning classes.

President Hinch of the junior class announced that the election of officers of next year's senior class will be held Wednesday, April 26, at 12:20 in room 201 Dante hall. There have been no definite announcements of candidates as yet, but it is expected that David Hinch, the present president, will run for reelection. Robert Franke has also been mentioned as a prospective candidate.

Possibilities who may run for the other offices are Guheen, Godfrey and Bannister.

108 Councils Send Men to K.C. Convention Here

A complete turnout of the Knights of Columbus of California, consisting of 108 councils, is expected at the state convention May 14, 15, and 16, on the College campus. The local council, led by Grand Knight Robert E. Franke, is preparing final plans for this important event.

The chief executives of the California Knights of Columbus will be representing their respective councils. The Reverend James B. Dermody, state chaplani; John T. Donchue, state deputy; John F. Holland, state secretary; Gus H. Homer, state treasurer; Edwin C. Boehler, state advocate; George C. Cunningham, state warden, and Benno M. Brink, past state deputy, are to attend the annual session.

Many Saint Mary's alumni, in the role of Grand Knights, will attend. B. Andrew Lagomarsino, Sacramento council; Charles L. McInnis, allejo council, and Clifford C. Anglim, Grand Knight of Contra Costa council of Richmond.

Brother Agnon Will Celebrate Seventy-fifth Birthday Sunday

On Sunday, April 23, Brother Agnon, the oldest active Brother of the order, will celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of his birthday.

Brother Agnon was born in the Bowery of New York and, while still at a very early stage of his life, came out to sunny California with his family.

His first vivid recollection of what was then the "Wild West" is of the monkeys on the trees which he noticed while crossing the Isthmus of Panama.

After landing at San Francisco, his family settled in Grass Valley, where his father, engaged in gold mining, was killed in a mine accident. Shortly after his father's death, John McCann (Brother Agnon) joined the Brotherhood. He entered the junior novitiate which was then located at Saint Joseph's Academy at Fifth and Jackson Streets in Oakland.

Several institutions have had the honor of having Brother Agnon as a member of their faculties: St. Joseph's, Christian Brother's at Sacramento, Sacred Heart, and Saint Mary's Colleges. He was stationed twice at Saint Mary's, the last time being in 1887, where he has remained since, and has won the admiration of his associates.

He has contributed a great deal to higher education in California in the rounds of science, literature, and religion.

It is the hope of his many friends that he will write the memoir of his fruitful life while he is still in his "prime."

The Brothers and students of Saint Mary's College, as well as the many hundreds of graduates who have passed under his hand, during the course of his happy career as an instructor, wish him many happy congratulations on the seventy-fifth anniversary of his birthday.

A.P.G.U. Club Sponsors Poetry Hour Wednesday

Brother Leo will deliver his last poetry hour on the campus on Monday evening, April 24, in the students' lounge at 7:30 p.m., under the sponsorship of the Alpha Phi Gamma Upsilon.

These poetry hours were enjoyed by the students more frequently two or three years ago, when Brother Leo was able to give a greater number of them on the campus, but due to numerous outside obligations, he has been unable to make the number of campus appearances he has in the past. All students are cordially invited to attend the recitations on Monday evening.

SENIOR BALL GETS APPROVAL OF OFFICE

Traditional Dance Will Be Held On Saturday, April 29

The traditional Senior Ball, last formal dance of the season before the close of school, will take place next Saturday night, April 29, in the spacious Colonial ballroom of the Hotel Saint Francis.

Chancellor Approves

Formal approval to give the ball was obtained from Brother Jasepr, Chancellor of the College, last week, and the latest reports from the committee in charge of the dance state that final arrangements are now being completed.

Lea Searight's musicians, one of the most popular collegiate orchestras in the bay district, will supply the music for the affair. In addition, the committee promises something entirely new and novel in the way of favors. Also, the edict of the committee banning corsages has won wide approval among the students.

Entertainment Good

At the present time, special intermission entertainment is being negotiated for, and the committee will have an announcement about this added entertainment in the next issue of The Collegian.

Patrons for the affair will include Mr. and Mrs. James M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. LeFevre, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Madigan, Mr. and Mrs. Claude T. Silva, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. B. Soule, Mr. Hagerty and Mr. Edward Smiddy.

All members of the ball committee have bids for sale and, in addition, they may also be secured at the College Book store and at Dev's Co-op.

Sophomores Announce Yearly Card Party

At a meeting held by the leaders of the sophomore class last week, plans were discussed for their annual card party. According to EdMcSweeny, president of the class, the date set for the social is next Wednesday evening in the lounge.

A committee was appointed with Campbell Juleff as chairman. Bridge and pinochle are to be played and prizes will be awarded to the high scorers.

Among the prizes which have been received are many valuable ones donated by friends of the College. A Saint Mary's belt buckle from Roos Bros., a classy pair of suspenders from Herman's Smart Shop, a box of candy from Wilson's, and four passes to the Fox Oakland Theater are reported to be awaiting the winners.

The second year men invite the entire student body to the affair. There will be no admission charge.

The sanction of Brother Jasper, Chancellor, and Brother Patrick, Moderator, has been obtained.

PRESS CLUB READY TO GREET VISITORS AT MEET SATURDAY

Catholic School Journalists Are Guests at Second Convention

Final plans and preparations for the second annual press convention were completed yesterday when George Railton, president of the Press Club, and Chairman Arthur D'Arco of the convention committee submitted a program for the day's events which met the approval of the rest of the club members.

George E. Railton

Some difficulty was experienced by committee men in procuring the services of outside speakers and it was not until this late date that Miss Dorothy Farron, woman's high school editor of a local newspaper, and William Leiser, well known sports writer for the San Francisco Examiner, signified their intentions of assisting the press club in that capacity. At the present time, efforts are under way to procure at least one more representative speaker to round out the program.

Last year, the success of the convention was insured at an early date when the majority of the high schools invited made immediate replies as to their intentions of sending reppresentatives. This year, but one affirmative reply has been received to date but optimistic members of the club feel that at least seventy-five high school representatives will attend.

This marks the second annual press convention to be sponsored by the Saint Mary's Press Club and upon its Alumni to Attend Group Meet in S. F.

The annual meeting of the Far-Western group of Catholic Alumni and Alumnae will be held at the San Francisco College for Women tomorrow, starting at 2 p.m. All Catholic colleges, both men's and women's, have been asked to send delegates to the meeting. Each association has been asked to send five representatives.

Welcoming Address

The address of welcome to the delegates will be extended by Miss Elvira Mejia, president of the Alumnae Association of the San Francisco College for Women.

Each association will respond to roll call with a three-minute talk on "What can be done to make this organization more effective."

The first speaker on the afternoon program will be the Reverend William I. Lonergan, S.J., president of the University of San Francisco, who will speak on "A Balanced Alumni Program."

Local Man Speaks

Other speakers at the afternoon session are H. Raymond Hall, Santa Clara, "Discussion Clubs"; Timothy J. Canty, Saint Mary's, "Catholic Action, Without Catholic Actors"; Mrs. Bernard Breeden, San Francisco College for Women, "Catholic Philosophy Applied to Social Action"; F. Gordon O'Neill, Editor, The Monitor, "The Alumnus and the Parish."

Leo A. Cunningham of Saint Mary's will preside as toastmaster at the dinner. Speakers on the dinner program are the Rev. P. G. Moriarty, director of Catholic Charities in San Francisco; William R. Lowery, chairman of the education committee of the Saint Mary's Alumni, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. ALUMNI NOTES

OFFICIAL—ALUMNI

WEDNESDAY, MAY 3—Annual dinner and meeting of the General Alumni Association, Hotel Bellevue, San Francisco, at 6:30 p.m.

LOWERY TO ADDRESS GRADUATES AT DINNER

William R. Lowery '11, chairman of the educational committee of the alumni, will deliver the address to the members of the class of '33 when they are officially welcomed into the Alumni Association at the annual dinner of the alumni to be held at the Hotel Bellevue, San Francisco, on Wednesday, May 3. Lowery is well known to the seniors since he has been in charge of the Transition course for the class.

John Murphy, president of the senior class, will respond to Lowery's address of welcome.

The Hotel Bellevue Trio will render musical selections during the dinner and Rudie Swall, who has become popular on many Saint Mary's programs, will sing several numbers. The complete program for the dinner will be announced in next Friday's Collegian.

P. Burnett Sheehan '08, whose class this year celebrates the silver jubilee of its graduation, is in charge of the program for the annual dinner.

There are still many members of the senior class who have not been sponsored for the dinner. It is hoped that alumni who desire to sponsor a senior at the dinner will notify the alumni office at once. In order to sponsor a senior, an alumnus is asked to purchase the ticket for the senior and to sit with him at table. The price of the dinner for the alumni who sponsors seniors is $1 per plate, for those who do not sponsor a senior, the price is $1.25 per plate.

JUDGE WARD CHOSEN NOMINATING COMMITTEE HEAD

Judge Louis H. Ward '95 has been appointed by President Fred West '14 as chairman of the committee to nominate officers of the Alumni Association for the year 1933-34. The election of officers is to take place at the annual meeting to be held at the Hotel Bellevue, San Francisco, on Wednesday, May 3. Judge Ward has long been a prominent judge of the Superior court of the city and county of San Francisco. He was a speaker on the annual Homecoming Day celebration in 1933.

Other members of the committee appointed to serve with Judge Ward are Joseph Delaney '03, Raymond McGlynn '13, George Rotenkolber '13 and William Murphy '31. In choosing the committee, an effort was made to select one man from each ten year period.

Alumni who know of likely prospects for the various alumni offices, are asked to forward the names to Judge Louis H. Ward, Hall of Justice, San Francisco, before noon on Monday, April 24.

JAMES DUFFY '28

James Duffy Jr., a member of the class of '28, is now employed by the Grace Steamship Company in San Francisco. Jim has been in New York almost continuously since his graduation. He took over his present position a couple of months ago. Young Jim is now in competition with his father in the transportation business, since the latter is a prominent official of the Santa Fe railroad.

MUCH INTEREST IN ALUMNI EUROPEAN TOUR

Although no great interest was expected in European travel this year, because of the depression, the interest in the Saint Mary's Alumni tour of Europe has been most gratifying. Already several reservations have been made at the tour headquarters at 601 Market Street, San Francisco.

The tour will leave San Francisco on June 11 and will arrive back in San Francisco on August 6. The complete cost of the tour is $695.

Alumni or friends of the College who are interested in the tour are asked to write to John L. Flynn '01, tour chairman, at the Russ Building, San Francisco, or to the tour headquarters, 601 Market Street, San Francisco.

DEBATING

Both the Newman Club at California and San Jose State cancelled proposed engagements with the campus debaters.

A meeting was being arranged for April 11 with the Newman representatives on wage cutting, but a change in officers and a crowded schedule forced the Berkeleyans to abandon the contest.

Seniors Told Aims in Contracting Business

A vitally interesting discussion of "The Contracting Business," by James M. Smith '10, former president of the Saint Mary's Alumni Association, constituted the eleventh transition talk of the current series on April 7 last.

Smith spoke directly from practical experience in the construction field, the result of his affiliation with the San Francisco building organization, Eaton & Smith.

He classified the necessary attributes of the young contractor thus: a) financial backing, b) intelligence, c) determination and d) integrity. The conclusion of his talk stressed the importance of each quality.

"There is a great deal of grief in the contracting business," Smith added. "Errors frequently arise, the company often finds itself victim of building material losses through bad weather or drop in cost after purchase. In locations where severe winter months cause work to stop indefinitely, losses are sustained, and much the same kind of a setback is encountered in dishonest employees.

"Occasionally the business takes on a brighter aspect when savings occur in the purchase of materials."

With the passing of today's transition talk, there remains but one more in the 1933 series.

The Inquirer

By Joseph Leonard

"Do you think dramatics should be included in the curriculum at Saint Mary's?

Henry Floyd—Certainly. I believe that dramatics should be encouraged here at Saint Mary's and a play presented in San Francisco or Oakland at least once a year.

Bill Smith—No. I do not approve of having dramatics at this school, because not enough students would show interest to make the plays a success. Then too, such amateur productions often accumulate a debt which, in the end, has to be paid off by the school.

Edward McSweeney—I first came to know Saint Mary's College through the dramatic productions which were so successfully sponsored by the students in bygone days. With the capabilities of the present student body members there is no reason why dramatic productions should not be successfully enacted.

Victor Breslin—As I have a particular interest in the stage, I may be slightly prejudiced in my opinion, but I sincerely believe that Saint Mary's should organize some sort of a dramatic society. This would give students an opportunity to use to advantage their superior talents in the art of acting.

Edward Grady—An interest in dramatics would install a new spirit into the social life of the College and serve to counteract the demoralizing influence of over-emphasized activities.

"Verdict" Wins Praise In Drama Contest

"The Verdict," by Professor Louis LeFevre, was presented by the Park Dramatic Guild Thursday evening at the Berkeley High School Auditorium.

This play, with an extremely intricate plot, was written by Professor Louis LeFevre, head of the history department at Saint Mary's College, while he was a senior at the old "Brickpile" in 1913. The College was then located in Oakland on Broadway.

Trophy Donated

The Peralta Park Dramatic Guild presented "The Verdict" in competition with three other dramatic organizations. The contest will run for five nights, during which time sixteen clubs will participate.

The winner of the five dramatic organizations competing in the final night, will be presented with a trophy.

Test For Philosophy Medal Is Held Today

This afternoon the annual contest for the Philosophy Medal will be held in room G 112. The gold medal was founded in memory of Brother Justin, the first President of Saint Mary's College. Last year's award was won by Charles Shields who graduated with the class of '32.

The following students will take the examination: Barudoni, D'Arco, Hourcade, Meyer, Mibach, Somers, Schaefer, Tolan and Walcom.

Gael Gossip

By HAVELOCK HUNTER

A study in weights and measures—as given by Pat Frayne in the San Francisco Call-Bulletin. The Saint Mary's booster placed the weight of the line in spring practice at 223. By adding about 12 to 15 pounds per man, Frayne gave the following lineup:

Ends—Fred Canrinus 206; Pennino, 205 pounds.

Tackles — Carl Jorgensen, 212; Yeserski, 242.

Guards—Brasnyo, 257; Gilbert, 238.

Center—Yates, 204.

Further in his article Pat gave Louis Kellogg, sophomore, fullback, quite a boost. In part he said: "Kellogg of Marasailles, Ill., weighs close to 200 pounds. Madigan likes Kellogg as having the 'gyroscopic relevator' system. The new method, which Madigan still keeps as a mystery, enables a big fellow to handle himself as easily as a little fellow when pulling out as a guard.

"Kellogg, although in the backfield, is becoming a master in the art of this new method, for, after cutting into a line, he cuts to either side for remarkable gains.

"A gyroscopic relevator has something to do with a shift that eliminates the full sense exterior motion (figure that out)."

This new product is now in the market competing with Clipper Smith's "gyroscopic spinner."

Further developments on that track team: We now have decided that Al Nichelini will come in handy as a 100-yard dash man. He can do it in 10 seconds flat (at least when he was a budding high school star.) Cranston Hopkins, capable of 1:36.8 in the 440, will be a welcome addition and can act as a nucleus of the track squad.

In the running broad jump, Masterson will be featured as he holds the campus record of 23 feet in the event.

Right now we are looking around for more material, but in the middle of our day dreams over the matter word comes from the athletic office that the intramural meet is taboo, as there was no interest shown. Only about ten men signed up.

Sidelights of Season's review . . . Johnny Owens, rotund freshman baseball catcher, certainly played to the grandstand (to the opponents bench, rather, since very few people witnessed the yearling team this season) . . . he baited the California Cubs in the first game of the series . . . trying to give the impression that he had booted the ball in the dust around home . . . thus drawing a runner off second . . . it was so dark around that time that it looked as if the waddling receiver was doing a Russian dance . . . Be it resolved that: the Southern California Trojans had the worst score keepers on the coast this year . . . besides numerous miscues, they tried to give Wilson an error in the Los Angeles series because the fielder started out after a high fly over his head and, when he caught up with the ball deep in the outfield, he picked the agate up and dropped it . . . "One error," said the Trojan scorekeeper . . . Co-captain had his best day of the sesaon at the final California-Gael game in Berkeley . . . he got three out of four at bat . . . good clean fun the outfielder had that day even though his teammates were dropping the game, 4-11. . .

The 1933 Gael is featuring some of the best football pictures seen in these parts in many a day. Along with each shot of the major games are sketches by Jimmy Hatlo of the Call-Bulletin, originator of Senor Moraga and his famed animal show.

As a whole, all the athletic pictures are excellent action shots.

Vince Whelton sums up the football season in his usual concisive and informative manner. "Bunker" Hill reports the basketball and baseball and minor sports for the annual.

MORAGANS TO HAVE HEAVIEST LINE IN GAEL GRID HISTORY

As the conclusion of the present session looms into sight it becomes evident to the supporters and opponents of Saint Mary's that Coach Madigan will be able to present on the field the heaviest team ever to play at Saint Mary's, or another one, not much lighter but much faster.

The team that he has been experimenting with a great deal lately can easily be called the "Beef Trust," as it averages around 220 pounds:

G. Canrinus, 195; F. Canrinus, 210; C. Jorgensen, 200; J. Yzerski, 235; E. Gilbert, 238; M. Brasyno, 251; M. Yates, 204.

What chance has a mere 200-pounder against such a line as this? It would give the opinion that with all this weight there would be a loss of speed, but contrary to this, these men are all exceptionally fast.

The backfield that has been working with this heavy line is very fast and shifty, composed of Sid Ahern at quarter, Mattos at left half, who shows promise of becoming one of the best passers ever had at Saint Mary's, George Dodson at fullback, and Fiese at right half, whose long, perfect spirals make him a threat at this position.

As Madigan has been shifting his men around from team to team, it is difficult to line up the men in their respective teams. The second team line is composed of men who have all seen service last year:

Ends—Pennino and Leahy; tackles, Baader and W. Jorgensen; guards, Carpenter and Minogue; centers, Danilovich, Jirsa.

This line, while not as heavy as the first, makes this up with its greater speed. The backfield is composed of Harris at quarter, Gordon Partee, fullback; Baat, left half, and Schreiber at right. This is quite a coincidence, as Baat and Schreiber were at the same positions while playing together at Mission High School.

From all indications, Saint Mary's will be set to start the season on a par with other Pacific Coast teams.

Swimming Team Meets Staters Today

For a meet which promises to be a close affair, the swimmers of San Francisco State will journey to the local campus this afternoon to accept the challenge of the Moraga mermen.

With summer vacation only three weeks distant, swimming is the sole sport with scheduled competition. Hence the Gael rooters will cast their eyes on the Moraga plunge today, where the best of the Staters and the best of the Gaels are going to put on some real churning exhibitions.

Coach Herc Fletcher's hopes of victory are chiefly on Miller, Fryer, La Cava and Delano. However, it may be some "come through" performance by Meister, Littlejohn, Fischer or Barry which decides the meet.

In the dorsal event La Cava is picked as a winner, while Delano in the 100 ought to leave his rivals in a path of foam. Fryer and Miller form a good diving combination which should take care of two of the three places in the springboard event. Miller may also lead the boys home in the 50 yard sprint and Fryer is a seasoned breast-stroker who can be relied upon to be among the leaders in this race.

A well balanced squad assures the Gaels of a few third places which might determine the victory. At any rate the Staters are in for a tough afternoon if they have not some aces in their stock.

Unless a meet can be arranged with San Jose State, this afternoon's engagement will terminate the season's aquatic activities for the Gaels.

Hollywood Boy

Hollywood's HUGH GERARDIN, 180 pound guard, will have to fight to hold hown his position on Slip Madigan's eleven next fall. During spring practice he has had to contend with men heavier and as well muscled as himself. His motto is, "Never be afraid of a man bigger than yourself." Gerardin is 5 feet 10 inches in height.

Bruins Expect to Return To Baseball Conference

Possibility that U.C.L.A.'s Bruins will return to the Inter-collegiate Baseball Conference next season, along with other defaulting members of the league, has raised hopes of the Saint Mary's Phoenix for a closely contested pennant race in 1934.

Coach Louie Guisto expects a hot race next year and states that with sufficient practice games before the conference opening the Phoenix have every reason to get off to a flying start against the collegians.

Gaels Register Win Over Tigers, Score 5-4

Coach Guisto's Phoenix scored a victory over the Jefferson tigers of San Francisco a week ago Sunday by 5-4. The Gaels came from behind in the ninth to score three well earned runs which won the ball game.

The ninth inning rally was featured by Mora and Peacock who knocked in the tying and winning runs.

Mickey McKay held the visitors to three scattered hits; the opponents four unearned runs were chalked up by ragged Gael support.

Phoenix Win Seven, Lose Nine for Year

Gaels Register 3 Wins in Conference, Drop 6

When Louis Guisto's Saint Mary's tossers defeated Southern California last week they wound up their season rather impressively.

With Walter Vanderbundt on the mound, the Gael tossers came from behind to defeat last season's championship Trojans by a 10-6 score and win the deciding game of the series from the southerners.

Off to a 5-2 lead in the early stages of the game, the Trojans appeared to have Vanderbundt solved, but the sophomore left-hander settled down and, backed by fine defensive work on the part of his mates, held the Trojans in check. Evans and Beard were the U. S. C. batteries.

Varsity Rallies

In the fourth inning the Gaels rallied when Rothwell dropped Peacock's fly ball, Gerner singled to score Peacock, Wilson trippled, scoring Gerner, and Mora doubled to score Wilson and himself crossed the plate when Troy tossed the ball around the outfield.

In the fifth, sixth and eighth, hits by Bareilles, Vanderbundt, and Jones accounted for runs to sew the game up.

Carl Gerner was the outstanding Gael with three hits and a flawless game at third base.

Season Fair

With a team that was predominantly sophomore, the Saint Mary's varsity turned in a creditable season's record considering the lack of practice and facilities.

The Gaels won seven games and lost nine and in the California Intercollegiate Baseball League finished in third place with three won and six lost. A practice game played with Santa Clara also resulted in defeat.

The big blot on the record is the 19-0 defeat suffered at the hands of Stanford in the opening game. The rout was avenged a week later when the Gaels defeated the Indians by a 5-4 score. Another disappointment was the loss of the California series when for the fourth successive year the Bears clean swept the Moragans.

Outfielders Graduate

But three veterans will be lost when the next baseball season rolls around. The outfielders and co-captains, Welsh and Jones have hung up their spikes after three years under Coach Guisto, as has Al Duffy, right-handed pitcher.

George Wilson, brilliant outfielder, will be the lone veteran in the outfield. In the infield Jim Kane will remain at first and the improving sophomores,

Coast Conference Taking in Small Colleges

With the University of San Francisco ready to apply for membership in the southern division of the Pacific Coast basketball conference, University of Santa Clara officials indicated the other day that they would probably follow suit.

James Smythe, graduate manager of U. S. F., announced that he planned to make application for membership at the next meeting of the conference heads, according to the Associated Press.

Although at Santa Clara, no formal announcement was made, it has been indicated that the university would also seek admittance.

Coach Harlan Dykes said he could not comment on the matter because it was one of policy and entirely up to the board of athletic control. The Santa Clara team was the only one of the independent schools to play all of the southern division conference members during the season recently closed.

Dykes and Sam Barry, University of Southern California coach, last year headed a movement to enlarge the southern division of the conference to include present members and the University of San Francisco, Saint Mary's College and the University of Santa Clara.—Santa Claran.

Wing Men Head Block S.M. Society

Activities of the Block SM Association will be under the guidance of the Canrinus Brothers, varsity ends, next year as the result of yesterday's election in which Fred and George were voted to the offices of president and vice-president respectively.

Fred, the elder, replaced Wayne Pendleton as prexy only after the ballots had been cast for the third time to attain the necessary three vote majority. Carl Jorgensen, regular tackle, was the other nominee.

Two basketball players took over the other, positions. Elwood Lang mainstay of the quintet, holds down the position of secretary while Billy Meade, ace forward, received the most ballots for treasurer.

GAELS TAKE SERIES FROM TROJAN TEAM WITH 10-6 VICTORY

Phoenix Men Slug Ball As Gerner, Wilson, Welsh Connect Consistently

Closing the 1933 baseball season, the Phoenix smashed out a decisive victory over the Trojans from Southern California, 10-6.

Behind the stellar pitching of Walt Vanderbundt, who set the Trojans down for his second win of the series, and the timely hitting of Carl Gerner, George Wilson, Vince Welsh and "Mam" Mora, the Gaels ran up a score that the visitors could not overcome.

Long Clouts

For the Southerners Holbrook, Allaire and Dedeaux were the big stickers, but the Gaels' persistent hammering of Pitcher Evans' offerings nullified their work.

The long distance hitting of Holbrook and Beard for the visitors and Wilson of the locals featured the contest; while Gerner stole the hitting honors with three hits out of four trips to the plate.

FORDHAM MENTOR INTRODUCES ROCKNE SYSTEM TO MAROONS

Special to The Collegian

NEW YORK, April 19.—The Fordham University football team concluded its spring practice yesterday and the chief impression left was that probably no similar period of training at the institution in recent years has been marked with such significance.

Jim Crowley, who gained fame as one of the four horsemen of Notre Dame under the late Knute Rockne, and who last winter was appointed head coach to succeed Major Frank W. Cavanaugh, told yesterday of the progress made in adopting the Notre Dame brand of football.

"In six weeks of spring practice," said Crowley, "the Fordham team has revealed itself to possess an uncanny aptitude for switching from one system to another with complete facility.

"The Cavanaugh style is vastly different from the Rockne system, both in the basic methods and in the execution of plays, but this squad, which had been thoroughly schooled in Major Cavanaugh's policies, has completely revolutionized its tactics in these weeks of training and now is ready to take up pre-season practice next September with a good knowledge of the Notre Dame style."

The Fordham coach, who, because of his youth and background as a gridiron figure, is regarded by his charges with the deepest admiration, asserted that the spring training period has proved to him conclusively that the gridiron future of the Maroon is bright and perhaps even brighter than he had expected when he assumed his new duties.

"Naturally, when we began this business of transforming a football team from one system to another," he said, "we anticipated certain difficulties, but it was our task to make the player's thoughts run in terms of Notre Dame plays. This, I can say now, has been accomplished."

In the final scrimmage, team A, representing the veterans on the squad, vanquished team B, comprising the reserve material and newcomers, 27-6. About 1000 spectators attended. Andy Pavlicovie scored for three of the team A touchdowns, two of which resulted in long runs after the interception of forward passes.

Grid Grad Signs With Boston Braves

Mike Steponovich, veteran guard of the 1932 Galloping Gaels, disclosed recently that he had accepted an offer to play with the Boston Braves, a professional football club. Since the termination of his playing career at Saint Mary's Steponovich admitted that he was seeking a position with some eastern circuit.

M. STEPONOVICH
Guard

Last fall, both Steponovich and Angel Brovelli were offered contracts with the New York Giants, but declined.

It has been rumored that Steponovich might make the trip to Rome, Italy, this year to play against the Italian team of which Brovelli is a member.

Tennis Squad Finishes Season With Pomona Win

Tasting competition for the last time this season, the varsity netmen have hung up their white ducks and put their racquets away till next year.

The tennis team under the leadership of Captain Chuck Wood, has encountered a very trying season, but has benefitted greatly in spite of their defeats. With only three letter men to form the team, difficulty was encountered in finding men able to hold the remaining positions.

At the beginning of the season, Captain Wood, Walter Wong, and Percy Goldstein were the only experienced competitors remaining from the 1932 squad. Later the team was aided through the addition of Jack Manley, tenth ranking player in Northern California. With four of the six positions taken, Glenn Lym and Tom Wood held the last two positions.

Through competition, the team was able to improve together with its practicing. Since there is no coach available for this minor sport, players have to depend upon themselves and upon the help and corrections of fellow players. However, it is hoped that in the future, Saint Mary's will be able to afford a coach for this form of sport.

Through the last three months the varsity tennis team has encountered many fine tennis squads from various localities in California. The netmen played such teams as the Golden Bears of California, the Southern California Trojans, the Broncos of Santa Clara, and Pomona College. Throughout the whole season, the netmen faced some very fine tennis players, especially the California and Southern California men.

Captain Wood possesses a record of which he should be proud, in that he has lost only one singles match this season, that being to Lloyd Budge, first ranking player of U. C. Wood has taken such players as Chadil of U.S.C., Lang of San Francisco, and Petty of San Francisco State Teachers College.

The tennis season might have lasted longer; however, lack of funds made it impossible. Next year the team hopes to be able to schedule out-of-town matches.

BASEBALL

Peacock, Mora, and Gerner, will be fixtures at second, short-stop, and third base.

Of the pitchers, Vanderbundt and McKay, left-handers, will return as will Stetson, Flynn and Caviglia.

Mel Bareilles, hustling catcher, will be back for a third year as will Noel Bonelli, his pupil and understudy.

A fair frosh team will also send new blood to the varsity and under proper condition's Louie Guisto's men should show a big improvement over the past season.

TRACK PLANS ABANDONED

Manager Virg Cattalini announces that intramural track has been dropped for the semester. The action was due to the lack of interest on the part of students. Less than a dozen track aspirants signed for the events.

This proclamation makes a future track team dubious.

Center Fielder Cops the Batting Honors

Vinnie Welsh, co-captain of the Phoenix varsity, led his team mates with a batting average of .370. All year Welsh has been a consistent hitter, and in the conference games he went hitless only once.

Carl Gerner, who finished in second position, with an average of .333, got the most hits of anybody on the squad, but likewise he was up at bat the most times, pulling down his average. In the U. S. C. series, Gerner hit the ball for an average of .538.

Walter Vanderbundt, star ball tosser for the Phoenix, also had a batting average of .333, disproving the old adage that pitchers don't hit.

"Hops" Ewart, pinch hitter supreme, actually led the team in batting with an average of .600. The last three times that Louis Guisto has called on Ewart to get a hit, Ewart has come through each time with a bingle. The following averages include only those games in the Intercollegiate League:

Ewart	5	3	.600

comes to this country in bales. The leaves are small and tightly packed. Each bale contains about 40,000 leaves.
DOMESTIC TOBACCO
is stored in huge wooden hogsheads. Each hogshead contains about 1000 pounds of tobacco.

A flavor that neither possesses alone

Early in the 17th century, tobacco seed from America was taken to Turkey. Different soil, different climate, different temperatures night and day, and different farming methods produced an entirely new tobacco—small in size, but very rich and aromatic.

Four certain spots are famous for the quality of their Turkish tobacco — Xanthi and Cavalla in Greece; Samsoun and Smyrna in Turkey. And it is principally from these places that our buyers get the Turkish for Chesterfield.

These Turkish tobaccos are blended, in just the right amount, with Domestic tobaccos. It is this blending and cross-blending of just the right amount of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos which gives Chesterfield a flavor that neither possesses alone.

The Essay of the Week

On Historians

By John Kiernan

B. T. Barnum's famous phrase, "There's one born every minute," does not only apply to patrons of the side show, but also to the best-seller addict. The publishers, all of whom are good psychologists, are always on the look out for spoon-feeding historians or sensational memoirs. They realize that the "minute men" are too practical to waste their valuable time on story books, when they can improve their minds by reading the timely comments of the philosopher Brisbane or Well's "Outline of History," if they desire something more colorful they can read "The Riddle of South America," by the celebrated English lecturer and world traveler, Lord Waterbrain, who wrote his famous book after making a week-end tour of South America.

These sugar-coated historians are not peculiar to our own enlightened age, we may say of them what Ben Johnson said of Shakespeare: "They are not of an age but for all time." Even in the eighteenth century the strange "facts" of civilization were being manufactured, sometimes unconsciously, by the prolific hacks of Grub Street. While the rotund Dr. Johnson, with soup stained vest, was engaging in brilliant conversation, Oliver Goldsmith was keeping the wolf at bay by writing a "History of Animated Nature." Although he hardly knew a turkey from a goose, he knew how to write; a quality which many of our modern "soi-distant" historians lack. He well merited the praise which Dr. Johnson gave in answer to the prejudice objections of Boswell: "Sir, he has the art of compiling, and of saying everything he has to say in a pleasing manner. He is now writing a Natural History, and will make it as entertaining as a Persian tale."

None the less interesting but more deceitful are the writings of Lord Macaulay, who is unfortunately still referred to by many as a historian. But with all due credit to the noble Lord, let it be known that he is one of the best yarn spinners in English literature. When Macaulay sat down to write history, he had two ideas in mind: first, to fashion historical facts to suit himself, and second, to paint John Bull as a great humanitarian. I might have added a third point, that is, to make his writings interesting, but Macaulay did not have to strive hard for this; it came naturally. Perhaps this quality makes up for his short comings as a historian. Although I realize that Macaulay was often a very malicious liar, I always overlook this fault because I realize that he had the true spirit of rule Britannia. The fates were kind to Macaulay. They deprived him of the historical sense, but made up for his defects by saturating him with the artistic and persuave power. England can well be proud of her gifted son, but this does not make up for the prejudiced views of many Englishmen.

The yarns sired by Macaulay were published in book form under the title, "A History of the English People." Unfortunately the work gained popularity not as a literary masterpiece, but as history. The average Englishman, taking the work at face value, began to consider himself a superior being and thought all those beyond the pale of Britan were inferior beings. By reading this book they acquired a narrow, distorted philosophy of history. The section of his history dealing with the Battle of the Boyne is one of the most notorious misconceptions of histroy. He not only mistakes the maneuvers and objects, but neglected to state how the invaders vastly out numbered their opponents in artillery.

As I said before, Macaulay lied, but what makes him different from most liars, is the fact that he knew how to lie. Lying is an art and good liars are always in demand. In early England criminals paid with their heads (not that they were worth anything) if they were not good liars. One of the methods in the trial by ordeal was to stuff the victim with dry bread and cheese, then ask him questions. If the culprit choked or stammered, the judge presumed that he was guilty. I would not want to subject the famous lord to this noble experiment, because I am afraid that he would convince the judge that the test would be unnecessary.

Grad Made President Of Parish C.Y.O. Club

A former Saint Mary's gridder, Bill Fischer, was elected president of the Catholic Youth's Organization of St. Philip's parish of San Francisco in a recent election of officers.

Jerry Murphy, Galloping Gael guard of a season or two ago, was nominated for the office but refused to run for the office. The result was that Fisher was named in his stead and carried the election.

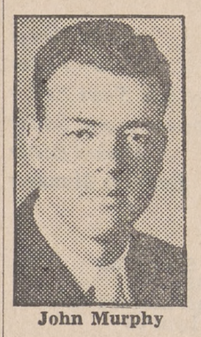
Senior . . . Sketches

By Thomas Twomey



John Murphy

As one of the few Celtic members of the Accordian Club (the powerful political machine on the campus), John Murphy has achieved an unique honor. This membership is a climax of four years of intense extra-curricular activities.

In spite of these tasks, he has maintained consistently a place on the honor roll.

Murphy associated himself with The Collegian upon his entrance to Saint Mary's, working for nearly three years on the sports staff. These labors gained him his journalism award when he was a third year student, and also his membership in the Press Club.

At Sacred Heart, his high school alma mater, he had been business manager of the "Blue & White News."

While discussing his journalistic ventures Murphy stated, "I would like to see a well constructed news office for the campus weekly as an aid and an incentive to the staff."

As a frosh and again as a junior, he was elected to represent his class in the student executive council.

Jack's collegiate political life received an appropriate reward in his fourth year when his fellows chose him to the office of senior president. A minimum of wrangling has featured his work in class affairs.

In addition to this position Jack was appointed as one of the upper classmen who compose the student affairs committee.

Frosh, Sophomores To Pick Officials

Sophomore nominations are to be made at a meeting Wednesday in D214. at 12:20. The election will be held Friday, at the same time and place, according to President McSweeney's announcement.

John Purcell and Campbell Juleff have both been mentioned as prospective candidates for president of the coming junior class. Possibilities for other positions are John Rainsford, Allen Nichelini, and George Jay. Le Roy Lazzeri is mentioned for vice-president.

President Cassidy of the freshman class has scheduled their election for Tuesday at 12:20 in room D119. There have been no announcements of candidates in this election.

WELCOME, VISITING PRESS DELEGATES

Delegates from Catholic colleges and high schools of northern California will visit the campus tomorrow to take part in the second annual convention of the Press Club. Although the number of representatives is as yet uncertain, the committee expresses the hope that it will approximate that of last year's highly successful one.

The idea of sponsoring such a convention where experienced journalists speak and where delegates exchange views in round table discussions is most worth-while. The Press Club by occasioning the convention gives Catholic school journalists a golden opportunity, and for this deserves praise and thanks.

To the visitors a cordial welcome is extended with the sincere hope that it will bring closer together Catholic scholastic publications.

GAEL ONLY A PARTIAL SUCCESS

In a few more days the Gael will arrive on the campus, but, according to the financial difficulties which it faces, it might be the last Saint Mary's annual for some time to come.

This year support has not been given to this publication as has been customary in the past. Four hundred annuals have been ordered for approximately six hundred students, yet the business department of the Gael will be fortunate if most of these are sold.

Should the present junior class be unable to finance what is reputed to be the best annual Saint Mary's ever has had, it is definitely decided that there will be no more annuals.

The junior class. although it successfully pulled itself out of the last financial hole, cannot finance a book that is intended for the entire student body, from which little cooperation has been received to date.

The Gael staff makes a final plea to the individual members of the student body for their cooperation in making this year's yearly publication a success. With this cooperation a modicum of success is assured; without it, failure must follow.

SEMESTER'S LAST RADIO PROGRAM HELD

A number of educational talks were rendered during the spring semester which showed that the programs met with the enthusiasm of the radio public.

Saint Mary's is one of the few colleges which sponsors radio programs of this kind. Without a doubt they show that the educational interests of the College are for the people in the cities of the outside world as well as for those who are fortunate enough to be members of the academic city on the campus.

In all probability, a new series will be sponsored next semester. Further success should be in store for those who have made possible these interesting College "Classroom of the Air" for the spring semester was given on last series by prominent members of the faculty, and many letters were received Monday night.

With Brother Leo as the speaker of the evening, the final Saint Mary's radio talks.

MEN IN THE KITCHEN

The cry of recent years has been that women have been trespassing on the domains of the male, but the shoe is on the other foot at Michigan State College. More men than women are registered in the cooking classes at that institution and the males also get the highest grades—Male superiority, that's all!

NOTRE DAME HONORS SINGER

John McCormack, world-famous operatic and lyric tenor, will receive the Laetare Medal of the University of Notre Dame for 1933. The award will be made at the commencement exercises in June. The honor has been bestowed annually since 1883 as an act of recognition of merit and as an inspiration to greater achievement upon a leader chosen from the ranks of the Catholic laity in the United States.

HOLD RAFFLE TO SAVE FOOTBALL

The Athletic Association of John Carroll University is holding a raffle in order to raise funds to put a football team on the field next year. $5,000 is needed; and it has been necessary to postpone the drawing twice because of insufficient response.

ONE WAY TO EARN A LIVING

A student at Los Angeles J. C. is earning his way through school by catching rattlesnakes. He receives $1 per foot. Last summer he caught 25 rattlers, the longest six feet, two inches and the net catch represented a semester's expenses. He sells his catch to professional collectors.

MEN ARE MATERIALISTS

Would you prefer a cool million dollars or a perfect love affair? According to tests made by Dr. N. W. Marston at Radcliffe, Tufts and Columbia, all the men prefer the million dollars while ninety-two per cent of the girls wanted the love affair. What do you think, Phil?

WORLD'S FAIR BRINGS JOBS

Many students at Loyola, Chicago University, and other colleges in and near Chicago will get a break this summer. A company has been given the concession of furnishing students as guides to visitors to the World Fair, and most of these students will come from local colleges. College students have received the preference because a certain knowledge of the many industrial and artistic exhibits is needed.

NEWSREELS TO SUPPLEMENT COURSES

Talking pictures are gradually coming into their own in educational circles. At the University of Minnesota Junior College a weekly talking newsreel, minus bathing beauties, marathon dancers, horse races and similar events, but featuring significant happenings in the day-to-day history of the world hereafter will supplement general information courses.

STUDENT RELICS ARE CONFISCATED

Twenty-five cars belonging to students at Lehigh University were confiscated recently by the Pennsylvania state highway patrol and classified as "relics unfit to operate on the public streets."

EASY SCHEDULE FOR SENIORS

The La Salle College (Pa.) Collegian gives a sample 1934 schedule for 1933 seniors:

8 to 9—Breadline.
9 to 12—Park Bench.
12 to 1—Soup Kitchen.
1 to 6—Park Bench (Laboratory).
6 to 7—Electives:
1—Chinatown Mission.
2—Salvation Army.
8 to ?—Flophouse.

NOW THEY CAN CONCENTRATE

Inasmuch as a great many marriages at the University of Utah have resulted from the fact that men and women students study in close proximity at the library, the president of the university has ruled that one-half of the library can be occupied by men, and the women must confine themselves to the other half.—The old meanie must be a bachelor.

FURNACE TECHNIQUE IS NOW TAUGHT

Strong backs, shovels, coal and a furnace are laboratory requirements for two new courses at the University of Iowa. Residents who employ university students have complained that the youths know little of furnace technique. So courses in anatomy and digestion of the furnace have been added to the curriculum, with practical demonstrations in the dormitory boiler room.—And they say college courses aren't practical.

STUDENT DUELING ENCOURAGED

German university students will again have the opportunity to secure the honored dueling scars. A German student feels naked without one. Hitler's government has ordered the ban on student dueling in Prussia lifted. The decree emphasizes that dueling is an expression of youth's fighting spirit, which should be encouraged rather than suppressed.

CO-EDS OBJECT TO "BACHELOR" TITLE

Co-eds at Boston University are arguing that the bachelor degree is not suitably titled for women. They have suggested that instead of the B.A. they should be given a V.A.-Viro Artium or Heroine in Arts; and similarly V.Sc. in science, etc. The dean of the school of education disapproves of the idea, pointing out that it was the degree itselif and not the title that counted, and that any change might jeopardize the value of the degree.

SLIPS THAT PASS IN THE NIGHT

According to the catalog of Denison University the following ruling is in force in regards to extended absence: "The student may be reinstated only if absence is cuased by long-continued illness or death."

BENEFIT RECITALS

On next Wednesday evening in San Francisco Brother Leo will give the first of two poetry recitals for the benefit of the new Christian Brothers' novitiate at Napa. Last year the Napa institution was erected to supplant the inadequate older one at Martinez as the main training center for future Brothers. And now there is need for support to maintain the beautiful plant at Mont de la Salle.

Brother Leo is recognized all over the country as one of the leading lecturers of today, and poetry recitals are a special adaptation of his, made popular by a gift for expression and a thoroughly interesting background. People of the bay region are fortunate to have the opportunity to attend one of his two performances, and in the past have proved it by flocking to his lectures and recitals.

Every event must have its boosting, and it is the part of Saint Mary's men who have been educated by the Brothers to attend to the boosting of this event. It is necessary if the educational influence of the Brothers is to extend throughout this state that they get this support.

OUTLOOKS AND INSIGHTS

By BROTHER LEO

OF SPEAKING ENGLISH

Mr. Ashley Elden Holden, editor of that attractive periodical, "The Oriental Outlook," explains the anti-Japanese sentiment widespread in this country:

"Without being aware of it, perhaps, Japan has prejudiced public opinion in America against herself by what may seem to be a trivial thing. But nonetheless it has been a potent factor in the determination of our foreign policy in Oriental affairs. It is the atrocious manner in which, with few exceptions, the spokesmen for Japan have handled the English language. Add to this the further offense committed by the Japanese in the crudely worded and ungrammatical printed documents with which the country has been flooded, and you have the answer to why the United States is not more sympathetic to her next-door neighbor across the Pacific. The average American is prone to look upon one who speaks English haltingly as an ignorant and uncouth foreigner."

All that is charming, tactful, urbane. But I do not think it goes to the heart of the matter. Rather is it true that when the average American encounters somebody who speaks English haltingly he is the most insensitive being on earth. Sometimes he is impatient, but never censorious. Many Americans speak the language haltingly and wretchedly themselves. It is almost a fashion to be indifferent to the niceties of pronunciation and the elementary principles of articulation. Hundreds of men gargle when they try to talk and nearly all of us assume that if a foreigner manages to "get over" what he has to say his manner of saying it is well enough.

Try to talk French in the manner in which some of our French visitors talk English and you will wound the linguistic delicacy of everybody within earshot. For all his politeness the Frenchman will correct you. He may like you, or pretend to; but he is not going to have the tongue of his noble ancestors outraged by the sons of Uncle Shylock.

Are we like that? Rather not. Often when somebody from overseas apologizes for his English, we slap him on the back and shout: "You're doing fine, old man; you're doing fine!"

No, dear Mr. Holden; for the anti-Japanese sentiment of Americans you must find grounds more relative than this.

HOW TO BE HAPPY

Anybody who looks at life for two consecutive minutes must conclude that while all men desire happiness, most men are hopelessly awry in their choice of means. Money, excitement, rapid transit, social prestige, business success and many more such things are tried and tried. Yet happiness is as far away as ever.

Happiness is something that comes from the inside out, not from the outside in. Wise was the poet—and happy—who sang: "My mind to me a kingdom is." Not the clothes on our backs, not the money in our pockets, nor the house we live in, are essential causes of happiness. Happiness proceeds from well occupied and active minds, well disciplined and expansive emotions, wisely directed and robust wills.

We are happy when we are interested and when we are interesting. And we can be prevailingly interested and interesting only when the objects of our interest are spiritual things. Material sources of enjoyment weary and cloy. Our real happiness does not come until we secure it sub specie aeternitatis.

That is what Professor William Lyon Phelps of Yale has in mind when he writes:

"The happiest people are those who think the most interesting thoughts. Interesting thoughts can live only in cultivated minds. Those who decide to use leisure as a means of mental development, who love good music, good books, good pictures, good conversation—what are they? They are the happiest people in the world; and they are not only happy in themselves, they are the cause of happiness in others."
